CHEF EVAN LINDLEY

Hometown: Evanston, IL

Chef Evan Lindley combines culinary creativity with technical expertise as an R&D chef, product developer, and food scientist. Specializing in sauces and condiments, he leads product innovation for the Kraft Heinz Away From Home culinary team, creating bold, trend-driven flavors and applications that resonate with operators. Outside of his role, he works as a private chef and runs his own Chicago-based supper club, Jazzy Pig.

Evan thrives in the FoodLab's fast-paced, collaborative environment, where experimentation, creativity, and a passion for food come together to push boundaries and inspire impactful solutions.
